Subject: [transturb17] Thu Jan 19 at 4pm - Marie Farge: Open Access Publishing Forum

4pm Thursday in the KITP Small Seminar Room

Open Access Publishing :

'How to disseminate our articles as efficiently as possible? Is open access a good solution?'

by Laurette Tuckerman (ESPCI, Paris) and Marie Farge (ENS, Paris)

Since the advent of electronic publishing a few commercial companies and non profit societies have come to dominate and control the academic publishing, with smaller publishers either swallowed or pushed out of the market and many researchers are concerned with who will control access to results of publicly funded research in the future.

Professor Farge advises European Commission on the reform of publication system .
